Question 21

Description: Four people respond to a local reporter's question about their opinions on holidays. Read their answers and answer the questions below. A I have a limited budget for holidays because I am a student, so I usually choose to travel nearby or to places within the country. Because of this, I haven't had the opportunity to travel abroad yet. I'm working on earning more, and hopefully, in the future, I'll be able to explore other countries. That will be my first time traveling overseas. B I once went on a hiking holiday, and it was a disaster. The weather was terrible, and I wasn't as prepared as I thought. I used to enjoy walking a lot, going on trails and exploring nature whenever I had the chance. However, now that I'm retired, my preferences have changed. I find more comfort in staying at home, reading, or spending time with family. C Before I go on holiday, I always get a guidebook so I won't miss out on any important places. I find beach trips boring and always avoid them. Instead, I prefer researching tourist attractions ahead of time and visiting those interesting spots. Exploring new places and learning about their history and culture is what makes travel exciting for me. D I want to relax when I'm on holiday, and I disagree with those who say going to the beach is boring. Last year, a friend invited me on a hiking trip, but I declined. However, my perspective has changed, and now I'm planning to go hiking in the near future. This time, I'll closely follow the weather to ensure it doesn't spoil the trip.

Question 22

Description: Read the text. Match the headings to the paragraphs. There is one heading that you will not use. The history of coffee

1._ The custom of drinking coffee started in the 1500s. Around that time, cafés began to open in places like Egypt and Ethiopia, though coffee was banned before that. Later, coffee made its way to Italy and spread throughout Europe. The Dutch even introduced coffee to Asia. Over time, drinking coffee became a common habit in many parts of the world, bringing people together in new ways.

1. Coffee Encouraging the Art of Communication
2. The ancient origin of coffee
3. The custom of drinking coffee began
4. The problems in a coffee economy
5. A remedy for unjust revenue distribution
6. A habit that has become a big business
7. The habit of drinking coffee in Europe
8. The health risks versus health benefits debate

2._ Europe is known as the biggest coffee-drinking region. In the 18th century, writers, philosophers, and politicians used coffee as a way to stay alert during intense discussions or meetings. Coffeehouses became popular meeting spots where people shared ideas and debated important topics. These places helped encourage the exchange of intellectual thoughts and played a key role in business and social life at the time.

4. The problems in a coffee economy
5. A remedy for unjust revenue distribution
6. A habit that has become a big business
7. The habit of drinking coffee in Europe
8. The health risks versus health benefits debate

3._ Today, many people drink coffee in the morning to wake up, or in the evening to socialize after work. Coffeehouses are everywhere, offering places to chat and relax. Coffee has grown into a global business, with coffee machines even sold for private homes. Famous global brands have become well-known for their coffee, using strong branding and marketing strategies to attract millions of coffee lovers worldwide.

4. The problems in a coffee economy
5. A remedy for unjust revenue distribution
6. A habit that has become a big business
7. The habit of drinking coffee in Europe
8. The health risks versus health benefits debate

4._ Europe consumes 90% of the world's coffee production, making it the largest market. Countries like Egypt and Ethiopia rely heavily on exporting coffee to support their economies. However, there is an issue of inequality: workers in coffee-producing countries often face poor working and living conditions. While coffee brings in money for these nations, the people producing it don't always receive fair pay for their hard work.

4. The problems in a coffee economy
5. A remedy for unjust revenue distribution
6. A habit that has become a big business
7. The habit of drinking coffee in Europe
8. The health risks versus health benefits debate

5._ To address these inequalities, certification programs for agricultural products were introduced. If coffee meets certain certification standards, it can be sold at a fair price, preventing it from being sold too cheaply. However, critics argue that only about 5% of coffee gets certified. Many small coffee producers are too poor to afford the certification fees, which keeps them even further behind in the global market.

6. A habit that has become a big business
7. The habit of drinking coffee in Europe
8. The health risks versus health benefits debate

6._ Coffee has several benefits. It contains antioxidants, which can help prevent diseases. However, there are also some risks. It is not recommended to drink coffee with added flavors or sweeteners because these can be harmful to your health. If you drink pure black coffee, it's usually fine. Just remember to avoid adding too many unhealthy ingredients to your cup of coffee to stay on the safe side.

Hope to hear from you soon. John

Write an email to the manager of the club. Tell the manager about your feelings and suggestions. 120 – 150 words.

Suggest: Dear Club Manager, My name is Henry. I have been a member of our club for 2 months. I am writing in response to your latest email. According to the news, the club's instructors will be absent for the next 2 weeks. To be honest, I am very worried to hear that news. I would love to venture (= express) my idea. It is advisable for us to follow coaches (= instructors) on social media, such as through videos on Facebook or YouTube. I believe this could help members not only practice effectively but also stay motivated. Moreover, I suggest finding an expert who has a lot of knowledge and experience in the health area to support members during this time. By implementing these new strategies, the experience of our members can be improved. As a result, we can attract more people to join our club. I hope my suggestions will be useful. I am looking forward to hearing from you soon. Best regards, Henry.
